

Online Article Submission System Privacy Policy

The online article submission system is based on the confidentiality of all information about the author (articles, information about authors, etc.). The executive editor and any editorial staff should not disclose any information about the submitted manuscript to anyone other than the respective author, reviewers, potential reviewers, other editorial advisors.

Unpublished material disclosed in the submitted manuscript should not be used in the editor's own research without the written consent of the author. Confidential information or ideas resulting from peer review should be kept confidential and not used for personal gain.

Editors should refuse to review manuscripts in which they have a conflict of interest arising from a competitive, collaborative, or other relationship or relationship with other editors, or ask a co-editor, deputy editor, or other editorial board member to review and review any of the authors, companies or (possibly) organizations related to documents. Editors should require all contributors to disclose relevant competing interests and post corrections if competing interests are discovered after publication.